

Hi David

Thank you for your quick reply, sadly I have little information on the photo's other than Sapper J Annenberg, Royal Engineers who I believe is my Grandfather, it would be great to see the pictures on your web site if possible, perhaps that would help identify some of the others.

I'll try clear up the confusion - Samuel Annenberg left England sometime around 1891/92 for USA with his eldest son Isador who would have been approx 18 years of age my hopes are to try and find out more information on Samuel perhaps from family he may have in the USA, Robert mentioned a Fanny Wienberger as a connection with Samuel. My hopes are that perhaps a Weinberger connection may know some details as regards to Samuels son Isador. Did he marry did he return back to England this is possible as he had a brother and sister in England. Its possible even that Isador is my Greatgrandfather (Isaac) I'll try explain that one!

My Grandfather Jacob's birth certificate shows USA as place of birth 31st Dec 1892, I know that Isaac came to England with his wife Fanny a month or so after the birth with there new born son and registered the birth in Leeds England. What im trying to establish is whether or not Samuels's son Isador who has been referred to by Annenberg's in the UK as Isaac could possibly be the Isaac I'm looking for i.e. as stated above my Great-grandfather.

One thing that makes me doubt this is that My grandfather Jacob (John) son of Isaac told my father that we were related to Walter Annenberg however I still have found no link, it was always understood that Walter was my grandfather Jacobs cousin this indicates that Isaac's father may not be Samuel but would be Tobias this is hard to confirm as Isaac has so far been untraceable and the only possible link with Isaac so far is the name Isador son of Samuel.

I'm desperately trying to find out who was the Father of Isaac and this is proving to be a real stumbling block Samuel is a possibility.

Once I trace the details of Isaac I should hopefully start to piece things together the only thing I am certain of at present is that Isaac has something in common with Isador they both were in the USA in 1892 and both have connections with England so are they the same person!

There are some things that have been said that make it possible that they are the same person, Robert mentioned that Samuel had a brother who had a shop in Seven Sisters Road in London, my father visited a shop in Seven Sisters road to meet family members when he was a small boy, David Bernard my fathers cousin also mentioned of a shop In Seven sisters road

Finally, regarding Barnett the dates and information I gave came fro Robert Annenberg I will post your email that you originally sent to me on to him.
